Crazed Gunman, Ordered Off Bus, Kills Driver, Girl; 5 Persons Hurt

CLEVELAND (AP) — A crazed gunman fatally shot a bus driver and a young woman in a wild bus terminal shooting spree today before he was killed in a hail of police bullets. Five bystanders were wounded in the crossfire between police and the unidentified gunman.

The man had been ordered off a Greyhound bus for allegedly molesting the 18-year-old woman he killed minutes later in the Cleveland terminal.

Georgiann Kartze, 18, Fort Eustis, Va., and bus driver Leo Almerico, 49, Cleveland, were dead on arrival at Charity Hospital.

Homicide detectives said the pair was shot at the entrance of a Pittsburgh-to-Cleveland bus by a still unidentified Negro assailant. The gunman, who went berserk after Almerico ordered him to leave the bus on Miss Kartze's complaint, was shot down by Detective Sgt. Michael Sirkot after the gunman had wounded five persons in a gun battle inside the terminal.

Detectives said the five wounded suffered only superficial wounds. Police said Miss Kartze had complained to passengers and the driver that the assailant had been annoying her. Witnesses told officers the driver had the girl sit in the front of the bus with him and told the man to leave her alone or get off the bus.

Witnesses told police the man left the bus then whipped out a .32-caliber automatic pistol and fired at the driver and woman before fleeing the bus, which was parked outside the Cleveland Greyhound terminal.

Police said the assailant shot the five others inside the terminal. The driver was able to enter the terminal before he collapsed and died. The girl died inside the parked bus.

Patrolman Michael Barrett, on duty inside the terminal, started shooting at the gunman, who fled into the terminal waiting room from the bus loading ramp.

A wild exchange of gunfire followed, wounding the five persons, none seriously, before the desperate man ran from the terminal with Barrett and a Chicago passenger, Cal Watts, in pursuit.

"We were joined by two detectives as the man ran from the station," Watts said. "The one detective (Sirkot) ran up an alley next to a church where he caught the guy hiding in an alcove and shot him."

"The guy didn't say anything," Watts said.

Sister of Mrs. James White Dies

Funeral services for Mrs. Lena Tolley, 64, who died Monday evening at the home of her stepdaughter, Mrs. Carl Hensley, in McLeansboro, will be Thursday at 2 p. m. at the First Baptist church in McLeansboro. The pastor, Rev. Olive Rice, will conduct the service and burial will be in the Ten Mile cemetery.

Mrs. Tolley was the sister of Mrs. James I. White of White's Florist.

The body is at the Gholson funeral home in McLeansboro.

Five Bomb Threats Send Police In Search for N. Y. 'Mad Bomber'

NEW YORK (AP) — Five telephone bomb threats Tuesday night and early today sent police to a hotel, three movie theaters and a company in three boroughs, in their search for the "mad bomber" who has plagued New York since 1940.

All were false alarms. The bomb scares were believed by police to have been the work of cranks who got their inspiration from the Christmas Eve escape of the bomber when he left a lethal calling card in the Public Library at 42nd Street and 5th Avenue.

A home-made pipe bomb was accidentally discovered attached to the underside of a phone shelf by a page who stooped to pick up a dropped coin.

Police bomb experts placed the bomb in a steel envelope and left

Youth is Fined After Wild Chase Through Traffic

A wild chase through heavy Christmas Day traffic resulted today in fines totalling $200 and costs for a Pennsylvania youth.

Pleading guilty to charges of driving under the influence of alcohol and reckless driving, Donald Kolenberg, 21, of Philadelphia was fined $150 on the first count, $50 on the second count and costs when arraigned this morning before County Judge Trafton Dennis.

He was arrested yesterday afternoon by State Policeman Roy A. Lane after a chase of about seven miles in which a number of cars were driven off the highway.

Lane said he was travelling east on Route 13 near the Billman road when the Pennsylvania car, going west, forced him off the highway. He turned around and gave chase at a high rate of speed.

At the Routes 45-13 intersection in east Harrisburg Kolenberg ran into heavy traffic which he could not get through; so he whipped through the Mitchell Shell Service station, barely missing a man from Muddy who was standing in the drive, and headed north on Route 45.

Lane overtook the car at Muddy and brought the youth back to Harrisburg.

Oxford Rites Held In Hardin County

Funeral services for New Oxford of Karbers Ridge, who was killed Sunday afternoon in an auto accident near Pounds Hollow, were held today at 2 p. m. at Mt. Zion Baptist church in Hardin county. Rev. Will Dutton of Stonefort officiated and burial was in the church cemetery.

it in a vacant lot to explode. When the bomb failed to detonate it was removed to Fort Tilden Tuesday where it was soaked in oil and placed in a bunker.

Army Ordnance experts will detonate the bomb today after placing it in a special plastic container so the component parts can be saved for study.

Five telephoned threats between 8 p. m. and shortly after 1 a. m. sent police to the 15-story Sloane House, a YMCA hotel in Manhattan, two movie theaters in Manhattan, one in the Bronx and a tin can company in Brooklyn.

An anonymous male caller in each instance warned that a bomb had been set to explode. Police combed each building but found no explosives.

Woman, Born to Slave Parents, Celebrates Her 103rd Birthday

CHICAGO (AP) — Susie Smith, who was born to slave parents on a plantation in North Carolina eight years before Abe Lincoln was inaugurated, celebrated her 103rd birthday Tuesday.

"I feel fine," she told friends and well-wishers who jammed into her small one-room apartment to wish her a "Merry Christmas" and a "Happy Birthday."

Mrs. Smith was sold at the age of 8 and never saw her parents again, nor her four sisters and 5 brothers. She said she came to Chicago 14 years ago from Newport, Ark., because "everyone made me feel at home here."

Joint Meeting By Rotarians, Kiwanians, Lions

Members of the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions club held a joint meeting Monday at noon at the Masonic temple.

Lowden Pankey, president of the Rotary club, welcomed the members of the other clubs and special guests were introduced.

Ray Durham, former member of the Kiwanis club, was speaker for the meeting on the subject of Christmas and its effect on history.

The birth of Christ and the Christian era which has followed since that time have been the most important events in the history of the world, Mr. Durham stated.

"All of the world's great art, books and songs have emanated from Christ and the Immaculate Conception. These events have kept man on the right path," Mr. Durham said in his inspirational address which was very impressive to his listeners.

Pankey announced the next meeting of the Rotary club will be at Santy's cafe at noon on Jan. 7, the first Monday in the new year. There will be no meeting of the club next week on New Year's Eve.

Bill Melton, president of the Lions club, stated the next meeting of that club will be Monday evening, Jan. 7, at Nick's cafe.

Dick Davenport, vice president of the Kiwanis club, announced the board of directors of the club will meet at Schnierle's cafe Thursday at 6 p. m. At that time it will be decided whether to hold a meeting next Tuesday evening which is on New Year's Day. Announcement will be made later of a definite meeting date.

Program chairman for the meeting was Russell Malan who introduced the speaker, and who also introduced his son-in-law, Jim McLean, who is visiting here from Kansas.

Another Rotary guest was Philip Pankey, son of Lowden Pankey, who is here from Denver, Colo. Kiwanis guests were James Ford of Detroit, Mich., introduced by his brother-in-law, Fred Wunderlich, and James Williams, son-in-law of Vern Clayton, who is visiting here from Texas.

707 Traffic Deaths Over Week End; 55 in Illinois

Five-Fatality Wreck Boosts Total in State

By United Press
The deaths of five persons in a single collision boosted Illinois' Christmas holiday traffic toll to a new all-time record.

At least 55 persons were killed on Illinois highways during the four-day Christmas weekend, a toll second only to California among the states.

The count also shattered the previous record of 46 holiday deaths established during the three-day Christmas weekend last year.

The five-fatality wreck, one of the nation's worst, occurred Christmas day on U. S. 66 just south of Springfield. Two of the critically injured were not expected to live.

Dead were Cleo Evans, 45, Gary, Ind., his wife, Georgia, 38, and two of their children, Jennifer, 2, and Ernest, 8, and Mrs. Matilda Remington, Glenarm, Ill.

Police said a car driven by Mrs. Evans and carrying eight passengers, apparently skidded on a patch of icy pavement and rammed into a car driven by Eugene Remington, 58.

Remington and five other Evans children, Doris, 15, Cleo Jr., 12, Leo, 10, Catsena, 13, and Kenneth, 10 months, were injured critically.

One of the dead youngsters was not extricated from the wreckage until a tow truck pulled the cars apart. He still was clutching a toy pistol he received for Christmas when his body was removed from the debris.

Of the Illinois holiday traffic deaths, 21 occurred in Cook county and 33 statewide. Multiple fatality crashes accounted for 21 deaths.

Eisenhower Expected to Ask Congress to Admit More Refugees

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower is expected to ask Congress to make the United States a haven for more refugees — not only from Hungary, but from other Communist-controlled nations as well.

A highly placed informant reported this in advance of a conference on the refugee problem today between the president, Vice President Richard M. Nixon and other government leaders.

Nixon, who returned Monday from a first-hand inspection of refugee camps on the Austrian-Hungarian border, went to the White House to make "specific recommendations" to the President for further U. S. aid for Hungarians who fled Communist brutality.

"Must Do More"
Others invited to the conference were Tracy Voorhees, special presidential assistant on Hungarian refugee problems; Director John B. Hollister of the International Cooperation Administration; Deputy Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers, and Deputy Undersecretary of State Loy Henderson.

Nixon told the nation in a special radio-TV broadcast Christmas night that the United States has opened its doors so far to 21,500 Hungarians, "and we must do more."

"They are fine people, and they are incredibly courageous," the vice president said. "They have

Tragic Holiday Fires, Two Blamed on Christmas Trees, Kill 19 Persons

By United Press
A series of tragic holiday fires, two of them blamed on Christmas trees, have killed 19 persons, 10 of them small children.

A Christmas day flash fire killed three youngsters when flames, apparently touched off by a tree, trapped them in the bedroom of their home in Great Falls, Mont.

The children's father, Joe Long, who carried two young nephews to safety, had to be restrained from dashing through a wall of flames in an effort to rescue his own youngsters.

Dead were Roxanna Rose, 3, Joseph Oliver, 4, and Rose Marie, 8 months.

Fire Battalion Chief Herman Hurd said although the exact cause of the blaze was not known, the parents had left the Christmas tree lights on all night.

"This fire could serve as a tragic reminder not to leave Christmas trees unattended," Hurd said.

Three other small children burned to death Monday in a fire that swept their home in northern Maine.

The victims' mother, Mrs. Arlene Goodboure, 21, Allagash, Me., was not told her three sons were dead until after Christmas. She and her husband were hospitalized with burns suffered while trying to save the children.

Killed were Gary Goodboure, 3, and his brothers, Kelly, 2, and David, 2 months. Authorities blamed the fire on a defective wood stove.

Earlier, 8 persons were killed in a fire caused by defective Christmas tree wiring at Doctor's Memorial Hospital in Minneapolis. Four patients and a nurse were in critical condition from smoke inhalation as a result of the blaze.

Authorities at Meriden, Conn., continued their investigation into the cause of a tenement building fire that killed a mother and four of her children.

Mrs. Luis Rios, 39, and her children, Gladys, 17, Isabelle, 6, Eddie, 3, and Eddie Nelson, 4, were killed.

Hundreds of Families Evacuated From Movie Colony in Path of Fire

MALIBU, Calif. (AP) — Hundreds of families were evacuated from their homes in this famed movie colony area today in the path of a blaze that consumed more than 2,000 acres of brushland and burned at least 25 structures in the Santa Monica Mountains.

Luxurious homes of many film personalities dot the beach area, but it was not known immediately whether any of them were among those destroyed.

Flames were visible from Los Angeles and the San Fernando Valley as they spread in every direction and at one area leaped across the Pacific Coast Highway.

Nearly 300 Los Angeles County and city fire fighters, aided by local cities and forest camp crews, were thrown into the fighting.

The fire area is near a popular movie star resort locale east of the old Richard Dix Ranch and is populated by many movie personalities. It was the scene in 1935 of a five million dollar blaze that razed more than 100,000 acres.

Film star Alan Ladd reportedly owns a ranch in the area but it was not known if he was living there.

Gusty morning winds whipped the flames in the tinder-dry area and the U. S. Weather Bureau predicted the winds would continue, coupled with low humidity. The season's total rainfall in this area has been less than one-half inch.

An emergency shelter was established and Red Cross officials alerted to the situation. Residents also were taken to lifeguard and fire stations at Zuma Beach.

Police Dep't to Stage 'Ozark Jubilee' Show

The Harrisburg Police department will stage the original "Ozark Jubilee" show at the high school here Jan. 28, it was announced today, and plans are going forward now for the presentation.

A representative of Ozark Productions of Springfield, Mo., where the original show is staged, is in Harrisburg and has set up offices in the city hall to take care of advance publicity.

He said that recognized and popular name talent will be used in the show.

The Police department announcement said that officers would contact merchants for advertising, that the department wanted to make it possible for every child in the Harrisburg area to see the show as guests of merchants buying tickets.

It was stated that the Harrisburg Police department never has had a benefit fund such as some other cities do in which to engage in projects like Junior Police work and programs to prevent juvenile delinquency.

Boys Admit Body In Auto a 'Plant' At Mount Vernon

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (AP) — All was not calm in Mount Vernon on Christmas night.

A couple reported to police they saw an arm hanging out of a partially opened car trunk.

The couple said the car was full of boys. They added that they thought the boys might have beaten up someone and were going to "dump the body."

A squad car roared out in pursuit. Police located the car. Nobody was dead. The boys admitted the boy in the trunk was a "plant" and that the episode was a "prank."

Police Chief Verner Pigg said officers lectured the boys, but—since it was Christmas—did not lock them up.

Commented Pigg, "You can't tell what these kids are going to do nowadays. I can't keep up with them."

Number is Far Above Council's 660 Estimate

Other Mishaps in Nation Take Total Of 894 Lives

By United Press
The nation counted more than 700 fatalities in its most deadly holiday weekend on the highways.

The number was far above the National Safety Council's estimate of 660 for the Christmas holiday period. The previous holiday high was 609 set during last year's three-day Christmas weekend.

Council officials sought to determine the cause of the high death count, but for the present ascribed it primarily to the fact that motorists were out in overwhelming numbers. They estimated 7 billion miles were driven by motorists in the United States during the weekend.

A United Press count at 11:30 a. m. CST showed 707 dead in traffic from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Christmas. Another 48 died in fires, 9 in plane crashes and 130 in miscellaneous mishaps for an overall total of 894.

California led with 73 highway deaths. Illinois came second with 55, five of them in a single collision Tuesday. Texas had 41, Ohio 40, and New York and Michigan 36 each.

The Safety Council has estimated that the traffic toll in a similar non-holiday period of four days at this time of the year would be about 420 lives.

Up to Drivers

Only Maine, North Dakota and Wyoming failed to record a single traffic death during the holiday. Even before Christmas, however, North Dakota already had set a new state record for highway fatalities in a single year, with 166.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the council, said "one ray of hope emerges" from the highway "horror"—that the "shock" of the toll will result in a low New Year's holiday death count.

Dearborn said law enforcement agencies had waged a "strenuous" fight to keep down the Christmas toll.

"But in the final analysis, it's up to the drivers," he said.

Dearborn said the toll occurred despite "the best highway patrolling job in history" by the nation's law enforcement agencies.

"Bad as the toll was, it could have been worse."

Frank Johnson is Fatally Injured Near McClure

The body of Frank Johnson, 69-year-old railroad worker fatally injured late yesterday on Route 3 near McClure, Ill., was scheduled today to be taken to Eldorado.

Johnson was a pedestrian struck by a vehicle on the state highway. No other particulars were learned, except that he died in Good Samaritan hospital in Cape Girardeau a short time after the accident.

He was an employee of the Illinois Central railroad and was working out of McClure. When in Saline county he lived with a sister, Mrs. Ethel Beasley of 432 West Church street, and with a son, Joe Johnson, in Eldorado.

Mr. Johnson, who was born Jan. 24, 1896, leaves one other child, Mrs. Betty Hicks of Evansville, another sister, Mrs. Bertha Wise of Harrisburg Route 4, and a brother, Fred Johnson of Omaha.

The body was to be taken to the Eldorado funeral home. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Return from Funeral In California

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Chastain of Eldorado returned yesterday from Porterville, Calif., where they attended the funeral of Mr. Chastain's mother, Mrs. Almeda Hein, 88, who died Dec. 17. Funeral services were held Dec. 20.

Mrs. Hein is survived by her husband, Val Hein, J. A. Chastain, her only son, and Mrs. Cameron Carter of Joliet, an only grandchild; also a stepson and stepdaughter and four step-grandchildren.

IT HAPPENED IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS: Population Center Keeps Moving Along

By John W. Allen
Southern Illinois University

On many diagrams, maps and pictures an 'X' marks the spot where something happened. Any one naturally assumes that such a spot once definitely located would not immediately go wandering. The spot being considered, however, is a migrant one and is an exception. It came to Southern Illinois in 1950 to mark the center of population for the United States.

In a way it tells where the people of the nation live. If an east-west line extending from coast to coast were drawn through this center, there would be as many people living north as south of it. Likewise, if a north-south line were extended to the nation's borders, it would make an equal division of the eastern-western population. A glance at a map shows that this would allow many persons to become southerners or westerners, colonels or cowboys.

This center is calculated after each decennial census. It was first located after the census of 1790 at a point 23 miles east of Baltimore. From this first location it began an erratic rate of westward movement, following closely along the thirty-ninth parallel. It was farthest north when first established and farthest south in 1940. The extent of its north-south wandering has been small, only about 22.5 miles.

Marker Near Olney

In 1950, after 160 years of westward progress, this migrating point reached a place in a cornfield beside Illinois Highway 130 about eight miles north of Olney in Richland county. An appropriate and substantial marker that attracts the attention of passersby was erected to indicate its chosen place and a driveway for cars was arranged. Many travelers, seeing the marker as they pass along the highway, draw off the pavement and pause for a while to read the inscribed legends and to feel that they are really in the very heart of our nation.

This westward progress of the center has not been at any regular rate. It was greatest in the period from 1870 to 1880, when a record distance of 57.4 miles was made. The least mileage was made in the decade from 1910 to 1920, when it was only 9.8, an average annual progress of less than one mile a year. In the 160 years since it began its westward meanderings, its average annual advance has been slightly more than four miles.

Since the national census on which its location is based is taken only at 10-year intervals, the center is marked accordingly. In 1800, 10 years after it was found to be 23 miles east of Baltimore, it appeared 18 miles west of that town. Another 10 years and it was 40 miles west of Washington D. C. By 1840 it had reached a burg, then in Virginia, but now in West Virginia.

In 1870 it was 48 miles east by north from Cincinnati and evidently spent a part of the next decade wandering unnoticed through that city to appear eight miles west by south from there in 1880. In 1890 it made its first appearance in Indiana, choosing a point 20 miles east of Columbus. Evidently liking that state it loitered across it for 60 years before appearing in the Richland county, Illinois, cornfield.

With only one recorded exception, this center appears to have chosen rural and often isolated spots for its appearance. This one exception occurred in 1910 when it settled down in the city of Bloomington, Indiana, choosing a coal yard in which to locate.

The present—that is, today's—actual center of population is not known. Those who have studied its movements over the years appear agreed that it is now wandering somewhere west from the latest marker, but none hazarded a guess as to just how far it has moved. Many are reluctant to predict its north-south progress.

As people are born, die or change their place of residence across the lines drawn through the present center, the center moves accordingly. When the next national census is taken in 1960, the center will appear in a new location. Then, even before the engineers, mathematicians, and others have made their calculations and reached the spot, it will have moved away. It truly may be said to be like the Irishman's flea—"When you put your finger on it, it isn't there."

May Remain in Illinois

Students of population trends predict that the center will continue a slow progress westward in Illinois. Many think it will be many decades before it leaves the state, if it ever does. If it should decide permanently to locate in Illinois, why not move the national capital here where it would be equally accessible to the most people? We'll vote for the move.

There are many other "centers" in the United States, most of which are like that of the center of population in that they are always moving about, for they have a habit of doing so. There is one center, however, that very definitely stays on location. That one is the geographical center of the continental United States. It is located about three miles north-west of the small town of Lebanon in Smith county near the midpoint of the northern border of Kansas. It is about 50 miles north of an east-west line through the population center. If the productive farmlands and other natural resources of the nation were evenly distributed, perhaps the population center would eventually come to settle in that same vicinity.

Hodge Receives State Treat Of Cigar, Candy

CHESTER, Ill. (U. S. P. R.)—Former State Auditor Orville E. Hodge, who bestowed lavish gifts on his friends while embezzling some 2 1/2 million dollars from the state, received a cigar and some candy from the state for Christmas.

Hodge's presents were handed out at the Menard branch of the Illinois State Penitentiary where the one time high living politician is serving a term for embezzlement and mishandling state funds.

Warden Ross V. Randolph said Hodge had no visitors on Christmas day.

"His wife saw him one day last week," Randolph said, "and it just wasn't his regular visitors day."

When They Took Kitchen Sink In 1956, They Took House, Too LOONY LARCENY:

BY MEADER G. FATTINGTON
NEA Special Correspondent

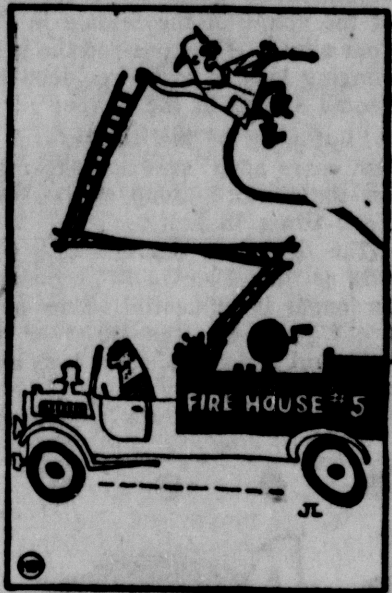

The police blotter across America were spotted with fresh evidence this year that thieves, by and large, are a home-loving lot. In fact, there was at least one case of a thief stealing a home. The building, in Springfield, Ohio, vanished from its lot. Police found it a day later on another lot, across town. Nobody seems to know how it got from lot to lot.

Another larcenous lad put $3,000 down for a new home on Easy Street in Hanford, Calif. But his $3,000 check was a bouncer. It turned out to be a quick trip from Easy Street up the river. Then there was the home-and-fireside-type robber who broke into a Salem, Ore., home and proceeded to rip out the linoleum, make French toast and a fudge cake in the kitchen and walk out—stealing only a 10-inch pie plate.

There is also the dirty crook in Tulsa, Okla., who regularly breaks into one particular home. The only thing the dirty crook takes is a bath—they can tell by the ring around the tub.

And a Hamilton, Ohio, burglar crashed into a partly dismantled home and crashed out again with the kitchen sink. Plus drainboard. Another thief with home furnishings on his mind operated successfully in a Danvers, Mass., hotel. He checked out and the management discovered he had taken with him two lamps, a night table, an ashtray stand, four sheets, two pillow cases, two pillows, two blankets, two bedspreads, four towels, two ashtrays.

stole $908 and this time got a year in the pokey for her trouble. Some crooks had all kinds of trouble. In Paducah, Ky., a bank robber made careful plans for crashing a bank after closing hours. But he actually got there an hour early and found the place crawling with customers, some of whom grabbed him. It was just as well—police discovered his pistol was loaded with the wrong-size ammunition and wouldn't have fired and his getaway car, parked nearby, wouldn't start.

And another chap, trying to stick-up a Phoenix, Ariz., dance hall, ran into a blackjack (wielded by the owner), a baseball bat (by a waitress), a steel chair (another waitress), a punch in the jaw (owner's brother), a well-tossed beer bottle (patron) and, to top it off, got arrested when he tried to stagger away.

When caught, thieves, as usual, presented highly involved alibis and excuses. A Rio de Janeiro man, arrested for practicing medicine without a license, explained that he had previously been a drug thief. And he was so successful and built up such a vast supply of drugs that he had to become a fake doctor to get rid of them before they spoiled.

But the fanciest story of all came from a Chicago man, arrested in a car loaded with a revolver, 100 bullets, 11 daggers, three switch-blade knives, lock picking tools and a tear-gas gun. "My hobby is shooting," the man explained. "I throw daggers and knives to amuse myself. I once studied locksmithing. And I like to see people cry."

two glasses and a shower curtain. But there were some robbers in business in '56 who were out for other than home-style loot. Like the Jeffersontown, Ky., operator who filched a 300-pound brass locomotive bell. And the Denver dodger who swiped two 100-pound tombstones.

There was a beer truck, loaded with 40,800 bottles, that was stolen in Oakland, Calif. The thief must have gotten a jolt when he found every bottle was an empty. He's making a fortune in returns.

A firetruck was another odd bit of booty. A Boston crook got that, while the firemen were battling a blaze. He crashed it a few blocks away, so he didn't get very far with his hot car.

A Chicago crook walked off with nine metal light posts—each weighing 1,500 pounds—probably didn't walk off with them in Providence, R. I., a thief broke into a butcher shop and stole 15 turkeys, plus a handy meat cutter's knife.

Police in Burley, Idaho, are looking for an extra large crook. He stripped a dummy outside a clothing store of a pair of seven-foot-long pants.

Larcenists of '56 showed a high degree of nerve. Many of their crooked operations involved policemen in close proximity. Like the New York thief who swiped eight policemen's pay checks, with a face value of $1,294.

And, in Phoenix, Ariz., a robber invaded the county sheriff's pistol range and made off with a pistol, ammunition, a telescopic gun sight and a box of pistol grips. Even in Australia, the policeman's lot was unhappy—a Melbourne thief stole 10,000 copies of a booklet on crime prevention from the police printing plant.

In Toronto, a woman thief was freed on a charge of stealing $1,300 from her employer. When the lawyer's bill came in, she

Day of the Outlaw

XXXV
Hiatt returned, and Dan saw that he held something bulky beneath his coat. Hiatt opened his coat and pulled out a belt and holstered gun, dropped it on the desk.

"There's your gun," he said. Ernie looked at him as though he had returned from the dead, then she turned away, her eyes misting.

"Denver?" Dan asked. Hiatt shrugged.

"Tied up tight and gagged, locked in the feed room." Hiatt looked solemnly around at them. "Now I've shown my brand to them and there's no turning back for me. If you lose, I lose."

Dan picked up the gun and Phil grabbed it, eyes bleak. "I figure this is mine, considering Paula."

There were just three outlaws left and three men here, though gun speed lay with the killers. Dan spoke briefly, planning a surprise that would even the odds.

Hiatt left the store and walked directly to the saloon. Dan and Phil left by the back way, walking back to the street, keeping the building between themselves and the saloon. They hurriedly crossed the street, cut around the empty stable corral and came to the Wyoming Bar from the rear.

He first saw Hiatt and could plainly hear the man's voice. Juarez, Egan and Vause had their full attention on Gene, who forcefully talked about making Pace divide the bank loot. Egan and Vause looked eager, nodded now and then. Juarez frowned uncertainly. Hiatt continued to talk and his eyes lifted beyond the outlaws to the door. He saw Dan.

"There's one argument Pace will listen to," he said. He drew his gun without suspicion and flourished it. "This is it."

Dan eased out behind the bar and Phil followed him. Hiatt's gun suddenly leveled as Dan spoke quietly behind the three outlaws.

"Lift 'em, gents."

The three men jerked in stunned surprise and Juarez held turned to look at Dan's gun held on his belt buckle.

"Dehorn 'em," said Dan. Juarez was the most dangerous of the three and Dan watched him closely. Egan, knowing that capture would mean an eventual hanging, made a desperate and deadly bid. Phil moved to obey Dan. For a brief second his gun did not cover Egan and the outlaw's hand blurred to his holster. The quick motion swung Dan's eyes momentarily toward him, and Juarez moved with the speed of a striking snake.

Dan heard the shattering roar of guns and smoke billowed between him and the swarthy face of the breed. He heard the snarling whistle of Juarez's slug past his head and then his own finger tightened on the trigger. Someone screamed nearby but Dan was hardly aware of it. He fired again at the breed, dimly perceived in the cloud of smoke. Then he could no longer see Juarez and realized the man had dropped behind the bar. He whipped about, lunging toward the end of the bar to circle it but Phil caught him.

"Dan! Dan! It's over!"

He stared at Phil and realized that the guns had stopped. The smoke drifted in long streamers toward the front door, eddying about Hiatt and Vause, who leaned against the bar, tightly gripping his right arm just above the elbow. Egan had disappeared and Dan's eye met Gene's.

"Juarez?" Dan asked. Hiatt's eyes cut to the floor. "He took a bullet in his mouth, Dan. It's over. Vause has a broken arm and Phil's slug clipped Egan's skull and he'll sleep long enough for us to hogtie him."

Only seconds had passed and yet the action had been so deadly fast that it seemed a long time since Egan had made his desperate bid for freedom. Juarez was dead and Egan lay sprawled in the sawdust, a shallow bleeding wound along his skull. Dan felt a wave of relief sweep over him. He looked in quiet triumph at Phil and Hiatt, then at the outlaws.

"I'll get Pace and bring him over, then we can collect Denver. They'll have heard the shooting at the store. I'll tell them everything's all right." He looked at Hiatt. "Or maybe you'd rather tell 'em."

Gene blushed, grinned crookedly. "I'm needed here but . . . Ernie should know so tell her right away."

Dan went to the store, to find Bob and his sister already standing out on the porch, torn by anxiety. He told them what had happened and Ernie's dark eyes came alive again. He turned to Bob, telling him to get Larry Teter and Clay Majors and go to the saloon, picking up Denver while they were at it. Bob hurried off and Dan turned to Ernie.

"Gene's not touched. He's a good man."

"The best," she said quietly. She looked toward the saloon. "Tell him I'm waiting, Dan."

Dan turned and just then saw Paula running toward him. He jumped off the porch to meet her and she fell into his arms.

"Pace," he demanded. She gasped for breath.

"He tricked me, Dan. He came to right after you left. He acted as though he knew he was beaten, even talked about it. He asked me to get tobacco from his shirt pocket so he could have a smoke." She looked up at him, fearful and also ashamed of herself. "I . . . felt sorry, I guess. I bent over him to get it. He moved so fast, Dan! He doubled up and kicked me in the stomach. I fainted. When I woke up, he was gone."

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

We have now celebrated the most widely accepted holiday in America. It was a religious holiday and not merely a day of relaxation such as we enjoy on a secular anniversary of national significance.

A few will be disappointed in the gifts which they received. Some will know that they gave little of themselves. Others will worry about paying their bills.

The great majority, however, will carry the message of Christmas in their hearts throughout the year. Love is not something which disappears quickly. The spirit of Christmas should last from December to December. It can last all year, and we can all have a part in making it permanent.

There are about 80,000 known insect pests and 6,000 plant diseases in the United States.

Starch Will Be Back in Women's Fashions in '57

By GAY PAULEY

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — Designers who took the stiffness out of fashions in 1956 are busy starching again for 1957.

A group of them peered into their crystal balls today for a forecast of the shape of the female in the year ahead. They decided the soft, clinging look is to be replaced by "some starch in the shape."

"But none of the stiffness of a few years ago," said a spokesman for the couture group of the New York Dress Institute.

The designers decreed that the 1912 or "My Fair Lady" influence no longer is influential. They now are digging into the 1930s for inspiration in dresses, suits, hats and other accessories.

said hemlines will "progress downward" but not drastically for daytime wear. The ankle-length or "demi-longueur" will catch on for evening. The waistline, she added, "will return to normal . . . the empire is through."

Blacks Almost Out
Shoulder shapes will be a bit squarer, but no return of the football padding of the early 40s is expected.

"And black . . . well, black will be almost non-existent," said the institute forecaster. Instead, the neutral shades will take over, and the various hues of violet will be tops in popularity for spring.

Violet will dominate in the costume jewelry department, too. The Jewelry Industry Council forecast an era of muted pastel shades including mauves for spring. White and turquoise will take over in summer.

Shoe designers expect the pointed toe to go right on into 1957, and one observer forecast more "amusing shoes"—footwork fancier to go with the longer skirts.

Soviets Shake Up Economic 'Brain Trust'

MOSCOW (U. P.)—A new seven-man "brain trust" began mapping today an economic program aimed at eliminating admitted mistakes and speeding the Soviet Union to its avowed goal of industrial superiority over the United States. The government, in a major shakeup of the top economic planners, Tuesday fired First Deputy Premier Maxim Z. Saburov as chairman of the State Economic Commission. Saburov, who had held the post since 1953, retained his high cabinet rank. To replace him, the presidium (cabinet) named 52-year-old Mikhail G. Pervukhin, an industrial troubleshooter who has held a number of important posts in state industry, government and the Communist Party. Like Saburov, Pervukhin is a member of the presidium and a first deputy premier. Saburov came under heavy criticism during the recently-concluded meeting of the Central Committee of the Communist Party for the failure of industry to meet quotas of the current five-year plan.

The State Economic Commission is charged with short-range planning. The State Planning Commission maps long-range plans. The latter commission also came in for criticisms.

The reshuffle followed disclosure that while overall production was increased 11 per cent in 1956 over the previous years, quotas in such vital industries as metal, cement, timber and coal were "unfulfilled."

Concern over the shortcomings was indicated by the announcement that the party Central Committee devoted its five-day meeting to economic problems. The meeting held behind closed doors in the Kremlin ended Monday.

HOLLYWOOD — Jeanne Crain's former husband, manufacturer Paul Brinkman, was accused Tuesday night of allegedly assaulting a man whom he had accused of carrying on an extramarital affair with the actress.

Sheriff's deputies issued a warrant for Brinkman's arrest on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon. Aircraft executive Homer Rhoads and a friend, Ted Ryan, told officers Brinkman attacked them outside an apartment building following a gay Christmas party.

Rhoads was accused in a divorce cross complaint by Brink-

Johnston City Man Charged with Intent to Murder

JOHNSTON CITY, Ill. — A 41-year-old Johnston City man was charged with assault with intent to murder today in the wake of a Christmas Eve tavern altercation.

Authorities said Bill Eskew told them the .25 caliber gun went off when he hit William Audie Gower, 31, on the head with it. Gower, also of Johnston City, is in Herrin Hospital with a bullet lodged in his cheekbone. His condition was said to be good. The hospital said the slug would probably be removed in a "day or two."

Police Chief Luther Wiseman said Eskew told him that he and Gower had fought in an alley behind the tavern before the shooting.

Johnston City Mayor K. Neil Thurmond, city liquor commissioner, suspended for five days the liquor license of the Uptown Tavern after a hearing today.

Housewife Suffers Burns

CHICAGO — A housewife suffered severe burns when a male visitor bound and tied her to a bed and set fire to the mattress.

Taken to Illinois Research Hospital with second and third degree burns was Mrs. Susan O'Neal, Chicago. Police sought James Gossby, 34, Chicago, who they said tried to burn her to death after an argument in the O'Neal flat.

The smoke aroused neighbors who broke into the flat and freed her.

Mrs. Ollie Droit Dies at Home In Thompsonville

Mrs. Amelia Droit, 89, died at her home in Thompsonville today at 10 a. m. She was the widow of Ollie Droit of the Ebenezer community west of Galatia.

Surviving are four children: Reno Droit, Thompsonville, Alf Droit, Galatia RFD, Mrs. T. J. Marvel, Mt. Vernon, and N. J. Droit, Thompsonville; one brother, G. L. Nero of Belleville, and two sisters, Mrs. Amanda Schroeder, Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. E. W. Reeder of Jacksonville, Fla.

The body will lie in state at the Courtney funeral home until the funeral hour which will be Friday at 2 p. m. at the Thompsonville Baptist church. Rev. Harvey Kimmel will officiate and burial will be in Dillingham cemetery southwest of Galatia.

Birmingham City Council Delays Action on Demands

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Mayor James W. Morgan announced today after legal consultation that it will be two weeks before the City Commission can consider action on Negro demands for an end to segregated seating on local buses.

The commission met for five minutes today, approved pay vouchers, the transfer of several policemen and officially canvassed a bond issue. The meeting was adjourned without action on bus integration.

Birmingham became the South's third hot spot on the bus integration issue when Negroes delivered an ultimatum to the City Commission to desegregate vehicles as they have been in Montgomery, Ala., and Tallahassee, Fla.

The home of the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth, a Negro minister who has spearheaded the integration demands, was rocked Tuesday night by a dynamite blast that slightly injured him and others in his house.

7-Year-Old Boy Freezes to Death

BARABOO, Wis. — A 7-year-old boy froze to death Christmas Eve while his pet dog stood at his side in a desolate woods five miles west of here.

Lawrence Michel got lost while hunting with his father, Henry Michel, 46, in a woods near their home Sunday. The father searched for the boy overnight and went for help Monday.

The search party found the boy's body propped against a tree, with his dog standing guard over him.

Double Event Births

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. — Two sisters gave their families special Christmas gifts Tuesday. Mrs. Milton Borchert, 33, of Milltown, gave birth to a girl in St. Peter's Hospital. Soon afterwards a boy was born at the same hospital to her sister, Mrs. Joseph Schmidt, 25, of Stelton.

Christmas at 'Grandfather's House' Enjoyed by Eisenhower Children

Out scurried the children's dog, a black Scottie named "Skunk." "Now our Christmas begins," grandmother said.

Grandfather reached for the baby and cracked, "Now I'm going to get my picture taken as a nursemaid."

To the other children he remarked cheerily, "It's over the hills to grandfather's house."

And so began the best part of Christmas day for President and Mrs. Eisenhower—the arrival of their four grandchildren, their son, Maj. John Eisenhower, and his wife.

The first couple ushered the family into the White House for an old-fashioned turkey dinner, an exchange of gifts and a bit of carol singing. The grandchildren reportedly had been practicing the carols beforehand and hoped to get Mrs. Eisenhower to accompany them on the organ.

SIU Officials Say Huge Budget Request Needed for Buildings, Improvements

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Southern Illinois University will ask the coming session of the Illinois-General Assembly for $39,319,000 to be spent on new buildings and capital improvements during the next two years.

The huge budget request is necessary, SIU officials say, if the University is going to be able to provide anything like adequate facilities for Southern's rapidly growing student body.

Since 1949, the University has contracted for twenty million dollars worth of construction and campus improvements, but this hardly begins to meet the need. Some 169,500 square feet of space used for classrooms, laboratories and offices is in ex-residences, barracks buildings and temporary structures, most of which are hard to heat in the winter and expensive to maintain.

Space Situation Tight

There are also new campus buildings which cannot be completed without additional funds and old buildings which have not had major repairs for 30 years or more.

Less than 12 per cent of the student body can now be housed in permanent campus dormitories. New residence halls are going up but not as fast as enrollment. Dormitories now under construction will provide sleeping quarters for 480 students, while enrollment is expected to increase by nearly 900 students next fall.

Since 1949, the University has been able to add three large buildings, including a library, in which classes can be taught. During this period, however, enrollment at Southern has jumped from 3166 to 6300.

"Despite new construction, the space situation is actually tighter than ever," says University President D. W. Morris.

Rickety old homes which are used for classrooms, laboratories, and offices around the periphery of the campus add up to 72,000 square feet of floor space. This is equivalent to a single structure the size of Southern's sprawling new agriculture building which is now under construction.

If the University were to replace with a single building the rotting World War II barracks buildings it now uses, the building would have to be as large as three-story Old Main which has more than 56,000 square feet of space.

Temporary structures on concrete foundations can be used for some time to come, but replacing them would require a building the size of Southern's gymnasium. Expect 9,000 in 1960.

Hungary Preparing to Seek $100 Million Loan from World Bank

BUDAPEST — The Communist regime of Premier Janos Kadar plans to ask the World Bank for a $100 million loan to help rebuild Hungary and stave off economic disaster, informed sources reported today.

The two months old rebellion has left the nation almost prostrate. Coal production is only a fraction of what the country needs. Industry, without power, is almost at a complete standstill. Homes are poorly heated if at all and a food shortage is threatened.

Informed sources said the Hungarian government has selected a team of experts to go to Paris to try to negotiate the $100 million loan from the World Bank, formally known as the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

$400 Million Needed

U. S. officials already have expressed disfavor over reports of Hungarian plans to seek a loan. The officials said the United States—the World Bank's principal subscriber—wants no part of any move to bolster the Soviet imposed puppet government.

In recent weeks Communist sources have estimated the nation will need $400 million to get the nation functioning again. Other

Mrs. Will Hannah, Former Resident Of Eldorado, Dies

Mrs. Isabell Hannah, 71, of 4734-A Hammett avenue in St. Louis, Mo., died yesterday morning. She was the widow of Will Hannah of Eldorado.

Surviving are three daughters: Miss Marie Hannah, St. Louis, Mrs. Emily Springer, St. Louis, Mrs. S. B. Olson, Des Moines, Ia.; one sister, Mrs. Essie Dombrowski of St. Louis, and eight grandchildren.

The body is being returned to the Martin funeral home Thursday morning and services will be held there Friday at 11 a. m. Rev. Z. W. Storey of the Beulah Heights Methodist church will officiate and burial will be in Wesley cemetery east of Eldorado.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gas, bloot or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to s-t-r-e-t-c-h stimulate it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

Only a bulk laxative can 1) re-moisten this dry, shrunken waste and 2) supply vital bulk to recreate a normal urge to purge. And, of all bulk laxatives, COLONAD, the new laxative discovery relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAD neither gags, bloats nor grips; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAD exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAD, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

North All-Stars Favored Over South Tonight

MIAMI, Fla. — Bolstered by five Oklahomans who don't know what it's like to lose, the North All-Star team is a 6-4 point favorite to beat the South All-Stars tonight in Orange Bowl Stadium.

Some 40,000 to 50,000 persons are expected for the 8:15 p. m. kickoff in cool but clear 60-degree weather.

Such "Yankee" stars as All-Americas Tommy McDonald and Jerry Tubbs of Oklahoma and quarterback Len Dawson of Purdue helped to make the North team the favorite. The North is coached by Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State and Ray Elliot of Illinois.

But the South hopes to counter with bruising Don Bosseler of Miami and Paige Cothren of Mississippi, two fullbacks with plenty of power. "Rebel" Coaches Art Guepe of Vanderbilt and Gene Elenson of Miami also have quarterbacks Sonny Jurgensen of Duke and Don Orr of Vanderbilt and fullback Bill Barnes of Wake Forest.

THE CARRIER MILLS GRADE SCHOOL BASKETBALL squad with the championship trophy of the four-team blind draw tournament held at Carrier Mills Saturday, with morning and evening sessions. In the morning round Carrier Mills won from Raleigh 41-24 and Muddy edged Stonefort 29-28. Saturday night Raleigh romped past Stonefort 53-16 for consolation honors and Carrier Mills defeated Muddy 72-31 for the title. Front row, Jim Russell.

Carrier Mills is Favored to Win Tournament

Carrier Mills' unbeaten Wildcats are pre-tourney favorites to walk off with the championship in its own four-team "blind-draw" tournament to be played tomorrow and Friday, Dec. 27-28. To date the Wildcats are riding the crest of a nine-game winning streak, far and away the best record of any of the four clubs participating in the meet.

Roselare has the second best record, 10 wins and only one loss, but the defeat was by Carrier Mills on Nov. 16, 63-49.

Eldorado and Metropolis, the other two schools, have been playing losing ball all year.

However, Eldorado has been playing to close decisions and may be ready to hit the victory trail. In seven games, with six of the decisions going to the opposition, Eldorado has been outscored a total of only 20 points. To date Eldorado has scored 359 points and allowed 379, but the record is 6 losses and 1 victory.

Team captains, under the supervision of the coaches, will meet on the Carrier Mills gym floor at 6:15 Thursday evening to make the drawings. Teams drawing numbers 1 and 2 will then play at 7 and teams drawing numbers 3 and 4 play at 8:30.

Thursday losers play Friday for third place and the winners meet for the championship.

Admission per session will be 75 and 40 cents.

Russell Stars on Defense But Celtics Lose, 89-82

By United Press
A capacity crowd of 18,036 jammed Madison Square Garden Tuesday night to watch Bill Russell make his pro basketball debut in New York and he put on a sparkling show. But it didn't keep the Philadelphia Warriors from defeating Russell and the rest of the Boston Celtics, 89-82.

The Celtics signed Russell, the University of San Francisco All-America star, mainly because of his defensive prowess and he gave a brilliant demonstration of it against Philadelphia. He held Neil Johnston, the National Basketball Association's leading scorer, without a point for nearly 40 minutes.

Russell, playing only his third game since turning pro, tired after that and Johnston got 14 points in the last six minutes. Besides guarding Johnston, Russell made 18 rebounds, individual high for the game. But the Warriors, with Paul Arizin getting 22 points, led the Eastern Division pace-setters at the end of every period.

Med Park's layup gave the St. Louis Hawks a 107-105 overtime victory over the New York Knicks in the second game of the Garden twin-bill.

In the other games, the Rochester Royals rallied to defeat the Syracuse Nationals, 98-83, after the Minneapolis Lakers scored a 100-89 victory over the Fort Wayne Pistons in the first game of a double-header at Rochester. Ed Fleming led the Rochester rally and Clyde Lovellette scored 23 points to pace Minneapolis to its easy victory.

Father of Six In Drunken Rage, Slain by Neighbor

KANKAKEE, Ill. (UP) — A father of six children, who threatened to "shoot up" his family during a drunken rage, was shot and killed Christmas day by a neighbor.

The victim was identified as Adam Perry, 33, of nearby Hopkins Park.

Perry's wife, Olivia, 30, told authorities her husband got drunk

Paul Russell, Tom Fitts, Dick Murphy, Mickey Hill and George Hudson, standing; Lloyd Adams, Coach Ron Culbreth, Terry Elms, Bob Absher, James Hearn, team scorer and statistician; Mike Henshaw, William Owens and Coach Howard Street. Tech, Pitt Play Saturday in Gator Bowl

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UP) — The Gator Bowl will put on its best show ever Saturday when the two teams who met in last January's Sugar Bowl—Georgia Tech and Pittsburgh—clash before 37,000 fans and a national television audience.

The Gator Bowl, long rated a peg under the major bowls, definitely has one of the top post-season attractions this year. And if the 1958 Sugar Bowl game was any indication, the Gator Bowl game should be one of the most exciting.

Both Tech and Pitt have more impressive records than they carried into the Sugar Bowl, and both coaches admit their current teams are better than those they had last January.

Pittsburgh which won the surprise victory over Miami at the end of the season, checks into the plush Ponte Vedra Country Club today to start workouts. Tech will not get to town until Thursday.

Because of Tech's record, which includes nine impressive victories against a lone 6-0 setback to unbeaten Tennessee, the odds-makers have made Tech a seven-point favorite.

Aussies Drub Seixas, Flam in Davis Cup Round

ADELAIDE, Australia (UP) — Australia's tennis terrors gave Vic Seixas and Herb Flam a sound drubbing in the opening singles matches of the Davis Cup challenge round today and virtually clinched the coveted silver trophy for another year.

Low Hoad walloped Flam, 6-3, 6-3, with a superb exhibition of power tennis, and canny Ken Rosewall outclassed Seixas, 6-1, 6-4, 6-1, in a pair of matches marked by American irritation over linesmen's decisions.

Australia now can clinch the Davis Cup for the fifth time in the past six years by winning Thursday's doubles match. Neither Talbert nor Australian Captain Harry Hopman would name his doubles pair. However, the Australians were believed certain to go with Hoad and Rosewall. Talbert was undecided about teaming Flam or young Sammy Gimmaiva with Seixas.

Pepper is considered the most valuable spice.

Salukis to Play Miami, O., in College Game Here Friday Night

Strong Miami University of Oxford, Ohio, which finished third in the Cincinnati, O., tournament last week-end by defeating George Washington University, will furnish the competition for Southern Illinois University in a top college game in Davenport at 7 p. m. Friday night.

Because of the Christmas vacation at Carbondale, Coach Lynn Holder has scheduled three of the SIU cage tilts in other southern Illinois cities and the game here is one of them. The Salukis played North Dakota University at Herrin Dec. 19 and play Millikin University at Flora tonight.

Coach Holder will bring a squad headed by Captain Gordon Lambert, a 6-3, 195 pound three-letter winner from Marion, to Harrisburg to meet the strong Miami squad. Other lettermen are Seymour Bryson, 6-4 forward from Quincy; Marlon Rushing, 6-2 forward from Pinckneyville; Warren Talley, 6-3 forward from Pinckneyville; Robert Welch, 6-foot guard from Centralia, and Larry Whitlock, 6-5 forward and center from Mt. Vernon.

Other squad members: Sam Duane, 6-3 guard from Ga-

Bull Dogs Meet Edwardsville in Tourney Tonight

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs and the Edwardsville Tigers open the annual Egyptian Holiday tournament tonight at West Frankfort.

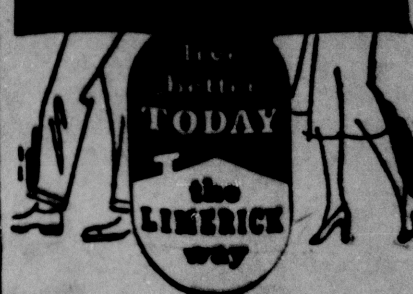

Edwardsville was runner-up in the state to West Rockford last year and has a number of its squad members back.

The Harrisburg game will start at eight o'clock, to be followed by Mt. Vernon vs. Murphysboro at 9:30.

The first round will continue Thursday evening with Carbondale facing Sterling at 7:30 and West Frankfort meeting Du Quoin at 9:00.

Consolation round games will be played Friday afternoon with first round winners meeting Friday night. The tourney will terminate Saturday evening.
